Post-Treatment Guidelines for Skin Booster Procedures

- Your skin may be red and swollen for about a day after the procedure. Depending on your skin type, bruising or needle marks may also occur.
- The “embossed” appearance (small bumps) will typically subside within 2–3 days.
- In rare cases, needle irritation or hypersensitivity to the injected substance may cause allergic reactions (symptoms include swelling and severe itching around the injection site, with possible oozing). If this occurs, contact the clinic immediately.
- Makeup can be applied from the day after the procedure.
- Avoid saunas, steam rooms, and intense, sweat-inducing exercise for one week.
- You may temporarily experience skin tightness or mild flaking. Avoid scrubs, and focus on soothing and moisturizing your skin with products like hydrating creams or recovery creams.
- Avoid strong UV exposure and always apply sunscreen when going outdoors.
